

Village of Wilmette Board of Trustees

Kathy Dodd

Hi. My name is Kathy Dodd and I'm excited to be running for a position on the Village Board of Wilmette. I grew up in the area, graduated from New Trier High School and have lived in Wilmette for 23 years. I have been married for 24 years to my husband Bob, and we have 2 daughters, Cameron (a junior in college) and Stacy (a senior at New Trier).

I graduated from Miami of Ohio with a Bachelor of Science in Computer Science and received my M.B.A from the University of Chicago Booth School of Business. I worked for over 20 years at a large Global HR Consulting Firm, where I focused primarily on financial and administrative systems and process improvement.

Since moving to Wilmette, I have been an active member of the community. I am currently a member of the New Trier Parent Board, have been president of the Wilmette Women's Tennis Association and a past Treasurer of the Wilmette Junior High PTA. I also served as a member of the Business Development Advisory Group for the Village of Wilmette. Presently, I am a member of the Misericordia Women's Auxiliary Board and have also served on other non-profit boards.

I bring deep business and system consulting experience to the board, as well as creativity, strong listening skills and an overall collaborative approach to solving problems.

Joel Kurzman

Joel Kurzman has lived in Wilmette for nearly 12 years. He currently lives on the Greenleaf-Laurel Loop with his wife (Allison), his daughter (Sophia, 7th grade at Wilmette Junior High School) and his son (Gabriel, 4th grade at Romona Elementary School).

A key qualification for the Trustee role is Joel's successful career in crafting public policy. He has advanced public policy for nonprofit organizations serving people with disabilities, a public health organization dedicated to preventing blindness, a trade association engaged in the practice of community pharmacy, and a large health care company.

Joel's commitment to community began in his earliest career endeavors, implementing school-based mental health programs and working in after-school programs serving inner-city children. Although he loved direct service, Joel's passion for public policy led him to obtain a Master's degree in Social Service Administration from the University of Chicago.

Despite busy schedules, you can often find Joel walking with Allison or riding bicycles with his children through many Wilmette's many wonderful neighborhoods. Joel regularly works out at the Center Fitness Club. The Kurzman family enjoys trips to the Wilmette Library and attending the adult theater performances of the Wilmette Park District, in which Allison has had several roles. Joel and Allison also share the pleasure of watching their children's sporting events in and around the community.

To learn more about Joel and his campaign's priority issues, please visit www.joelforwilmette.com or search for @JoelforWilmette on Facebook.

Stephen M. Leonard

Steve has lived in Wilmette for a total of 30 years and has learned a great deal about the community along the way. Steve's and his wife Deena raised their two children, Sarah and Jacob in Wilmette, both graduating from New Trier High School.

Professionally, commercial real estate development has been Steve's main focus. Specializing in the retail market, he has concentrated on working with national retailers guiding their expansion programs, locally, regionally and nationally. Approximately 17 years ago, Strategic Real Estate Services Corp was founded by Steve to continue in this pursuit. This company is active today providing services to retailers of all types.

Steve graduated from the University of Chicago in 1986 with an MBA concentrating in Finance. In 1984, he earned a BA from Miami University (OH) with a degree also in Finance.

Fiscal conservatism has always been a high priority in Steve's professional pursuits. Clearly this approach will be brought to the Village activities if Steve is fortunate enough to be elected to the Board. Being the only candidate with retail real estate experience will allow Steve to bring this market perspective to all commercial issues facing the board. Given that the further enhancement of our commercial areas is a priority for all of us, this expertise will be an invaluable addition to the Village Board.

Reinhard Schneider

Reinhard Schneider is a long-term resident of Wilmette. His two children attended Wilmette schools as well as New Trier.

He has served the Village in various capacities: eight years on the Plan Commission, the last four years as chair; as a member of the Business Development Advisory Group (BDAG); briefly on the Transportation Commission; and for the past three years on the Zoning Board of Appeals. His professional background includes experience as an architect (Caudill Rowlett Scott), as a Chief Financial Officer (American Medical Association), and in commercial real estate finance (Bank of America). He is a graduate of the University of Illinois and holds graduate degrees from M.I.T.

Reinhard has the necessary experience and judgment to help guide our Village as it confronts important decisions over the next four years.

Wilmette Park District Board of Commissioners

Bryan Abbott

I am a civil engineer, and I bring 37 years of management of design and construction teams building large-scale projects to the Park District and the Board. The Park District is a robust system with a heavy investment in facilities. My expertise in facilities is a valuable skill set for the Board and our community, including experienced implementation of the most cost-effective and time-efficient project execution.

In addition, I am a 17-year veteran Boy Scout leader who has led numerous high-adventure treks, and coaching and mentoring dozens of Scouts to Eagle Scout. I am a 25-year resident of Wilmette. Prior to my term on the Wilmette Park District Board, I served on four other volunteer not-for-profit boards. I was a co-founder of the Wilmette Wings Soccer Club Girls program, and I was a founding member of Team Northshore Running Club. I've run six Chicago Marathons and well over a dozen triathlons. I've also taken numerous bicycle treks across our country. It is also my great honor to have earned the U. S. President's Lifetime Service Award, and I plan to continue my service to our community.

It has been my privilege and honor to serve these past four years on the Park District Board. I strongly believe in the role of the citizen leader, and I have volunteered my time as an expression of that belief, an experience I have found to be incredibly enriching.

Gordon Anderson

Gordon Anderson is a 35-year resident of Wilmette. He and his wife Joanne have lived in three different neighborhoods within the Village, and raised their three children here. The Andersons have always been enthusiastic users of the Park District programs and facilities.

Gordon has been a member of the Park District Board of Commissioners for the past 17 months, having been appointed by the current board members to fill a vacancy. He was selected for the role because of his familiarity with the Park District, his business experience, and his independence from partisan or political agendas.

Gordon is a CPA and has been a Chief Financial Officer (CFO) in private industry for 25 years. He is currently Chair of the Board's Finance Committee and has provided needed experience and expert counsel to the Board and Park District staff. Gordon also serves on the Golf Committee. Gordon is an active paddle and tennis player. He coached in the Wilmette Baseball Association for 12 years, was Equipment Manager and Board Member of the Trevian Girls Softball Association, and coached his daughter's Park District basketball team.

Professionally, Gordon has recently been involved in two major environmentally-focused construction projects, both of which will have LEED certification (Silver and Platinum). One project is designed to be the first net positive energy building in Illinois, producing more energy than it consumes. Gordon understands project management, as well as the benefits and costs of sustainable design and construction from a uniquely practical CFO's perspective.

Christopher Lewis

Chris Lewis has lived in Wilmette for 5 years. After spending many years in Chicago, he and his wife chose Wilmette as a perfect place to raise their three children based on the schools, the parks and access to Lake Michigan.

He has worked in Information Technology all his life as a consultant and at several financial institutes. What his experience will bring to the Park Board is a solid foundation in project management, finance and an extensive technology background including current social media trends.

Lake Michigan and Gillson Beach are Wilmette's finest assets. Chris believes they should be treated with the utmost respect. Necessary infrastructure maintenance must be performed and upgrades to the beach house and parking area are needed. However, any additions to Gillson should be aligned with the community's desire to preserve Gillson's open spaces and in-line with the cost expectations as presented in the Park District surveys.

Chris previously was on the Alphonsus Academy & Center of the Arts school board. He is a member of the St. Francis Parish and enjoys supporting his kids athletic programs, their social organizations and other community activities. Chris, his wife Kelly and their three children (Ben 15, Annie 12 and Sam 10) are avid sailors and can be found most days at Gillson beach.

Amy Wolfe

Amy Wolfe is a married, mother of 3 young children who has lived in Wilmette for the last 12 years. Her family is heavily involved in Park District activities. They participate in everything from classes, to sports, to theater programs, to enjoying the golf course, tennis and paddle courts, Centennial ice and pool, the Community Recreation Center and Gillson Beach.

Amy has served on the Wilmette Park Board for the last four years, is currently the Vice President. In addition, Amy is a board member of the Ouilmette Foundation, which strives to enhance the park district.

Her past work experience includes working as a Account Executive for a consumer products company managing a three state sales territory with multi-million dollar revenues, a Senior Account Executive for a Marketing and Promotions Agency overseeing clients from Fortune 500 companies, and working as a therapist for an agency assisting patients with HIV and AIDS. Her education includes a Bachelors degree from the University of Michigan in Neuro-Psychology and a Masters Degree from Northwestern University in Marriage and Family Therapy. Amy hopes to continue to bring her work and life experiences together with her passion for our community to the Wilmette Park Board.

Wilmette Public Schools District #39

Jon Cesaretti

My wife, April, and I are the proud parents of three Wilmette District 39 students (2nd, 4th, and 7th grades) in the Central area. We have lived in the community for seven years having moved from Chicago in 2009.

Both of my parents were career public school teachers and I attended public schools through high school. My further education includes:

- BA in History, Columbia University in New York in 1993;
- JD degree from Loyola University Chicago School of Law in 1997;
- LL.M Taxation from DePaul College of Law (LL.M Taxation) in 2004.

My professional focus is on state taxation, revenue and tax policy matters including all areas of tax, including income tax, sales tax, property tax, etc. I am an adjunct professor at Loyola, where I have taught state and local taxation since 2002. I am a recently promoted Principle of Crowe Horwath LLP, a top 10 global accounting firm, which has a significant presence in Chicago. I am responsible for leading and growing our Chicago State and Local Tax Practice. I also serve on two boards: The Discover Your Dragon Foundation and The Artistic Home Theater in Chicago.

Lisa Schneider Fabes

Lisa Schneider Fabes is a dedicated community leader and parent with three children in D39.

Lisa is eager to serve on the School Board to continue the District's tradition of making evidence-based and fiscally responsible decisions to improve our school system.

Lisa has served in a variety of capacities in D39. For three years, Lisa served on the Community Review Committee (CRC), including one year as president. While serving as president, she facilitated a process that resulted in the District's commitment to update school libraries. Lisa has played a leadership role in the Central PTA helping to expand enrichment and arts opportunities. She has also had the pleasure of serving as the environmental awareness coordinator and being a room parent.

Professionally, Lisa is known for her keen analytical skills, creative problem solving, and ability to bring people together to find common ground and develop solutions. For more than a decade Lisa has worked as a consultant, providing clients with project management, strategic planning, program design and evaluation services. Two recent projects Lisa managed include the Chicago Task Force for Police Accountability and a high school re-design process for Sullivan High School in Rogers Park. Prior to consulting, she worked on a variety of reform efforts at two of Chicago's most challenging public institutions - the Chicago Housing Authority and Chicago Public Schools.

Lisa has a B.A. in Psychology from the University of Michigan and a J.D. from Chicago-Kent College of Law. For more information, see www.LisaForD39.com or LisaFabesForD39 on Facebook.

Mark Steen

Mark Steen is the father of students at McKenzie, Highcrest, and WJHS, and is the current Vice President of D39's Board of Education. Mark's goal is to help District 39 improve the development of its students - academically, socially, and emotionally - while remaining within its financial means.

Mark believes in an evidence-based approach to constant improvement of our schools. With a Ph.D. in physics, Mark passionately advocates for fact-supported policies and objective measures to evaluate outcomes. For example, he has worked to align the district's start times with the American Academy of Pediatricians' recommendations and has helped the district adopt growth metrics to ensure that each student progresses each year.

Over the past decade and a half, Mark has advised Fortune 500 executives as a consultant with McKinsey & Company and as an independent. Having helped clients navigate the business revolutions of the last 15 years, he believes that D39 must constantly adjust its practices to produce world-class results. On the Board, Mark has pushed to create classes in computer programming, hire a sustainability coordinator, and improve the district's strategy development approach.

A former equity analyst for Sanford Bernstein and Citadel, Mark serves on the Finance Committee, helping oversee a conservative approach to the district's budget. With a colleague, Mark represented the Board in recent, successful contract negotiations, which reinforced fiscal prudence by linking the district's revenue and expense growth.

Mark spends most of his "free time" at Wings soccer games, Flying Fish swim practices and school band concerts.

Ellen Sternweiler

I'm a mother of three District 39 students, one at Romona and two at Wilmette Junior High School. I've been a small business owner and entrepreneur for over 25 years; originally in marketing and communications and, more recently, as a specialty retailer and parent advocate focused on sensory needs and child development.

After graduating with a B.F.A. from the University of Michigan, I pursued varied professional paths—each of which added depth and perspective to my entrepreneurial skill set. As Assistant to the Director of The Cleveland Committee for Public Art, I gained invaluable experience in public policy, funding and negotiations. My role as lead designer and strategist in the Graphic Communications Department of Ernst & Young's National Management Consulting Offices afforded me a deep understanding of corporate logistics, problem solving and budgets. And, I honed my sales and marketing skills as the Marketing Director of a clothing manufacturer.

In addition to my professional pursuits, I've always strived to make a difference in my community through civic involvement. I currently serve as the Romona School Liaison to District 39's PASS39 (Parent Association for Special Services). I've served as a National Commissioner and Midwest Regional Board Member of the Anti-Defamation League for 18 years where I'm currently an executive committee member of their Leadership 2020 initiative and an active member of the Civil Rights and Education Committees—focused on anti-bullying, inclusion and educational equity initiatives. I've also been standing Chair of the Neighborhood Parent's Network Developmental Differences Group for 8 years.

Gail Szulc

Gail Szulc and her husband have lived in District 39 community since 1985. They have 2 children and 3 grandchildren. She is running for the Board of Education for the first time. Gail has dedicated her life to improving lives of elementary school students. She spent her career as a principal for 15 years preceded by 20 years teaching grades K-8 in the Chicago Public School System. As principal she took her school from the rank of 224 of 550 schools to #3 in the city in only 8 years and with no increase in funding.

Gail earned a Bachelor's degree in English Literature from UCLA and holds a Master's degree in Instructional Leadership from UIC. She has been a member of the Illinois State Board of Education School Review Team for Chicago, and is a former Leadership Coach for new principals in Washington, D.C. In the December 9th, 1996 issue of Business Week, she was featured for her efforts in accelerating student achievement. Business Week noted that "the nation must embrace reformers like Szulc."

Gil Gibori

Having experienced Avoca's academic excellence and cultural diversity as a child, my wife Carrie brought our family back here five years ago. We now have four young students in the district.

Personally, my professional background is in science, as a biomedical researcher specializing in molecular biology, and medical technology private equity consultant. Throughout my adult life, I have considered education a pinnacle issue, finding considerable time to work with companies and organizations to help students succeed – either directly or at the board level.

While I am not an educator, I am an education professional. Having founded, with my wife, Chicago Academic, also located in the Avoca district, a company entirely dedicated to helping parents augment their students' education. I work with families, clinical professionals and schools every day to help students navigate and overcome the many educational issues they experience.

I continue to study the modern education system and am intimately familiar with the challenges faced by students, teachers and administrators across the entire spectrum of learners.

On an administrative level, the company we lead employs over 75 people committed to helping students. With many of the same concerns as any administrative board – financial, personnel, and quality of service - I believe that leading any large multi-faceted organization requires the same steady and sober frame of mind, along with the creativity to pivot in new directions.

I look forward, given the opportunity, to serving our community through the important work of the Avoca District 37 School Board.

Jun E. Yoshitani

My wife Frances and I are Wilmette residents, and currently have four children, ages 8 to 14, in the Avoca School District. We have lived in the district since 2006. I received my B.A. from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, and my MBA from DePaul University. My professional career has spanned a wide range of roles in finance, in telecommunications, consumer products, and manufacturing. Currently, I lead the FP&A function for a private equity owned, mid-cap industrial manufacturer based in the Chicago area. My day-to-day work centers around forecasting, planning, assessing risks, and developing "big picture" storylines for our owners, investors, and lenders. In this role, I am also active in strategy deployment, which is a management process associated with “lean” manufacturing, and used to convert business strategies into sustainable breakthrough improvements.

I believe my finance background, particularly my experience with managing budgets and implementing strategic priorities, will make me a valuable member of the school board.

Rick Zelinsky

My name is Rick Zelinsky and I have lived in the Avoca School District for the past 16 years with my wife and two children. Both of my boys attended Avoca from kindergarten through eighth grade and are now a freshman in college and a junior at New Trier High School. I’ve been on the Avoca District 37 School Board for the past eight years, the last two as Board Vice President. I’ve had the pleasure to serve the Board as both a parent and, more recently, a general community member. I am a technology professional by trade and was initially drawn to the Board of Education after serving the District as a parent on the Technology Committee that established, and implemented, Avoca’s highly successful 1-to-1 laptop initiative.

It’s been an honor to give back to the Avoca community through my Board work, and I look forward to continuing to share my passion for technology and to focus on students while ensuring the best use of our taxpayers’ resources.

New Trier Township Board of Trustees

Kevin B. Boyd

Kevin B. Boyd is a candidate for New Trier Township Trustee. He is the Chief Information Officer at the University of Chicago Booth School of Business. He has responsibility for the information technology at Chicago Booth's campuses in Chicago, London and Hong Kong, and manages a staff of 50 people responsible for operations, application development, project management, and service management.

Prior to coming to Booth, he was the Vice President of Product Management for Tribune Company. While working at Tribune, he gained experience relevant to the Township Trustee role by working as a funder of non-profit social services agencies working as a member of the Chicago Tribune Charities board. The Chicago Tribune Charities Board annually vetted and awarded approximately $4 million to Cook County non-profit organizations.

Boyd previously worked for CNA Financial in Chicago as a PMO Director and as the Director of Quality Assurance and Testing. He worked for United Airlines as Director of Ecommerce Systems and led teams that were responsible for ecommerce in the United States and around the world.

He was also an adjunct professor at Northwestern University for nine years, teaching classes in ecommerce and working with students on entrepreneurship related independent study projects.

Boyd previously served the Village of Wilmette on committees for the Wilmette 125th Anniversary and Ad Hoc Information Technology Committee.

Boyd holds a master's degree in Communication Systems, Strategy and Management from Northwestern University in Evanston, IL and bachelor's degree in Broadcast and Electronic Communication from Marquette University in Milwaukee, WI.

Bob Costello

Bob Costello is a Managing Director for TransWestern Capital Advisors. TransWestern supports community bankers and public agencies with investment, risk management, and other capital market related functions. He has over 30 years of experience in the financial markets, primarily with fixed income securities. He has also held leadership positions at LaSalle National Bank, and FTN Financial Capital Markets in Chicago. Before moving to Chicago in 1980, Bob worked at the Federal Reserve Board in Washington, D.C.

Bob has had a lifetime passion for free market economics and limited government. He has held leadership positions with Social Security Choice.org, Americans for Limited Government and the Sam Adams Alliance.

Bob currently serves on the Board of Directors of Wyoming Catholic College, and U.S. Term Limits Foundation. He has served on the boards of the Acton Institute, Chairville Montessori School, St. Athanasius Parish School, Americans for Limited Terms, Free Market Society of Chicago, and Americans for Limited Government. He served 12 years on the Evanston Police Pension Board.

Sue and Bob have been married for 40 years. Their three Children, Cary, Sarah and Devin completed high school at Loyola Academy and have all gone on to graduate from college and are living respectively in Bozeman MT, Chicago and Grand Rapids. Cary and Devin are married and the newest member of the family was born in November 2016, grandson, Louie Costello, in Grand Rapids. We have two daughter-in-laws, Stacie and Yen Costello.

Education:

- MS, Accounting, Roosevelt University Chicago, IL
- BA, Economics, George Washington University Washington D.C.

Gail Schnitzer Eisenberg

Gail Schnitzer Eisenberg lives in Wilmette with her husband, David, and two children. Gail works as a civil rights attorney at Stowell & Friedman, Ltd., focusing on workplace discrimination. Gail previously worked as a managing associate in Dentons' Litigation and Dispute Resolution practice. She began her legal career as a Staff Law Clerk to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit and also taught appellate advocacy at Loyola University Chicago School of Law.

Gail emphasizes pro bono service, volunteering legal services with the Domestic Violence Legal Clinic, ACLU, the National Immigrant Justice Center, and Equip for Equality, and working directly with children through the Girl Scouts and the Constitutional Rights Foundation. She currently chairs the Young Lawyers Group of the Jewish United Fund and the Legislative and Amicus Curiae Committees of the Decalogue Society of Lawyers, and is active in her daughter's preschool and her faith community. She is passionate about fighting prematurity and captains a March of Dimes team.

Gail graduated magna cum laude from Northwestern Law where she studied local government under Dawn Clark Netsch. During law school, Gail interned for the Illinois Attorney General's Office, the United States Attorney's Office, and the Hon. Joan Humphrey Lefkow, and represented clients in immigration proceedings through the school's legal clinic. Gail received her BA/MA in Political Science, summa cum laude, from the University of Illinois at Urbana Champaign through Jim Nowlan's Civic Leadership Program. There she was active in student government, diversion of juvenile offenders, diversity initiatives.

Kathy Myalls

I have lived in Wilmette for 12 years with my husband Scott and our two young boys. For my entire adult life, I have been deeply involved in my community and with charities focused on bettering the lives of children.

I graduated from Glenbrook North High School in Northbrook, received an A.B. (with honors) from the University of Michigan, and a J.D. (Harno Fellow and Dean's List) from the University of Illinois College of Law. I have practiced law in Chicago for 27 of my 29 years as an attorney. Currently, I am Assistant General Counsel at Interpublic Group, an advertising holding company, and before that worked at Verizon (then MCI) and several Chicago and New York law firms. I have been an adjunct professor at DePaul University, teaching Communications Law. I have had active roles in a variety of organizations:

- New Trier School Board Caucus
- Prevent Child Abuse America: President, Chicago Board; Director, National Board.
- Canine Therapy Corps Volunteer
- Big Brothers/Big Sisters: Big Sister; Junior Board Member.
- Constitutional Rights Foundation Member.
- Chicago Coalition for Law-Related Education (Chicago Public Schools Trial Advocacy Competition).
- President of my prior condominium association.
- President of our homeowner's association.
- Lawyer in the Classroom Instructor.
- Sunday School Teacher at St. Francis Xavier.

Working with so many organizations has given me a critical eye to assess what an organization does right, and where it can improve. I hope to bring this independent perspective to the Township.

Elliott Robbins

Elliott Robbins is a candidate for New Trier Township Trustee. He is running because he believes in a Township that is inclusive, and identifies and helps its most vulnerable residents. He is also running because he believes that dark money from conservative "free market" movements cannot be allowed to influence local elections.

Robbins is an attorney practicing civil litigation in Chicago. He has lived in Wilmette since 1992, with his wife, Julie, and two daughters. Both daughters served in the Township's Peer Jury program.

Robbins has volunteered at the Township for the past 17 years. He served for six years on the Health & Human Services Committee, three of those years as Chair. Meeting monthly, the Committee provided detailed oversight of the Township's funding of various social service agencies, including North Shore Senior Center, the family service agencies, and the youth centers throughout the Township. Township grants enable programs that improve the lives of our seniors, our at-risk youth, our families experiencing unanticipated crisis due to job loss, catastrophic illness or substance abuse, as well as our disabled citizens and those with mental illness.

The past 11 years, Robbins has served monthly as a youth advocate in the Township Peer Jury Program, helping the Township's juvenile offenders, who have made bad decisions, and their parents, navigate the peer jury process and successfully complete their community service.

For more information on Robbins' qualifications and motivations to run, please see <http://www.facebook.com/robbinsfornewtriertownship/about>.

John Thomas

I've lived in Winnetka for 42 years and have served to my community for thirty of those years. Currently I'm in a third term as an elected Winnetka Park Commissioner and am chair of the Audit Committee and the Parks and Beaches Committee. Now in my 14th year as a Winnetka Plan Commissioner, I've also been the Winnetka Caucus Council Chair and have served on the Winnetka Zoning Board of Appeals. Further, Board experience in several public and private businesses add to my knowledge of how board should, and shouldn't work.

My local Board service started in 1988 while chairing the Winnetka Youth Organization and later included chairing the Winnetka/Northfield United Way and the local Rotary Club. Being a Board and Executive Committee Member of the Northern Illinois Girl Scouts gave in-depth pro-bono Board management.

Regarding United Way, it was a disappointing watching United Way headquarters engineer a major pull-back in 2010. However, I saw the Township helped many agencies weather that storm and I want to continue that vital part of Township service.

With many past and current experiences in my tool kit, I volunteered to be vetted and interviewed by the non-partisan New Trier Citizen League last fall. It was pleasing to be selected as a Trustee candidate

Our New Trier Township makes life better through its grants, food pantry, community support program and other services. Being a trustee would be a welcome extension to my long standing service to my community.

Stacey Woehrle

Stacey and her family have lived on the North Shore for over a decade. She is an active mom (2 boys, ages 5 and 14), wife and citizen of New Trier Township. Stacey has a finance degree from the University of Michigan and is a CPA. Stacey's financial experience ranges from auditing at Ernst & Young, managing budgets for Fortune 100 corporations to those of various charitable organizations. In addition to Stacey's financial background, she has also spent a considerable amount of her time volunteering over the last several years. Currently, Stacey is Chair of the Fitting Futures program with the Junior League of Evanston-North Shore. Stacey's professional experience coupled with her community service makes her a great fit to serve as a New Trier Township Trustee. It's important to have a fresh perspective to look at how our tax dollars are being spent. Stacey is excited at the prospect of putting her considerable skills to work in order to benefit New Trier Township.
